

(aunt of the last McCarthy Mor, he d. 13 Mar., 1770, at Putney). Elizabeth was the co-heir with Mrs. Herbert, of Muckcross, and Mrs. Conway, and it is hoped to publish her pedigree and that of The O'Donoghues of the Glens, in a separate tract. James settled at Maulagh (now Lakeview), on the north shore of Lough Linn, the largest of the Lakes of Killarney, next to his brother, John, who had already settled at Grena or Greena (now Grenagh). Jane, his wife, d. on 15 Apr., 1867. Notices of James occur in The Last Colonel of the Irish Brigade, page 305, vol. ii. He was a man of very considerable shrewdness, and by the judicious investment of the large sums left to him by his uncles, "Hunting Cap" and The Count, managed to accumulate a reasonable fortune. He was of conservative character, and even in politics preferred the gradual evolution of the established order to the Revolution of Experiment. On 29 Oct., 1869, he was created 1st Baronet of Lakeview and Ballybeggan in the United Kingdom. He d. at Lakeview on 28 July, 1872, and was buried in the family vault at Cahirciveen. His children were,

- P1A Maurice James O'Connell, 2nd Bart., b. at Kenmare Place, Killarney, 31 Oct., 1821; educated at Downside Abbey; J.P., D.L., co. Kerry, and High Sheriff for co. Kerry, 1850; m. 6 Jan., 1855, first at St. James Church, Paddington, and later on the same day at 73 Westbourne Terrace—the home of his father-in-law—Emily Clunes Ross O'Connor (b. 26 Apr., 1821, d. 23 Jan., 1907), dau. and co-heir of Rear-Admiral Sir Richard O'Connor, K.C.H. (b. 24 Feb., 1785, m. 10 May, 1816, d. 9 Jan., 1855), by Hannah, b. 16 April, 1794; d. 29 Nov., 1859; dau. and co-heir of John Ross (b. 1742, m. —, d. 20 Oct., 1827), of 7 Hereford Street, London; Carshalton Lodge, Surrey, and Regency Square, Brighton. Sir Richard O'Connor was the son of Sir Patrick O'Connor, of Marble Hill Cork (Kt. Bach. 9 Feb., 1795), by Elizabeth, dau. of James Therry and Elizabeth Nagle, aunt of the Right Hon. Edmund Burke (1729-97). Sir Patrick O'Connor was the only son of John O'Connor, last O'Connor Failghe, and Emily O'Reilly, dau. of Bryan O'Reilly (b. 1676, d. 6 July, 1748) and Margaret McDowell (d. 6 July, 1735). A separate account of the families O'Reilly, O'Connor, Therry, Nagle and Ross will appear, it is hoped, in subsequent tracts. Sir Maurice succeeded his father as 2nd Bart. in 1872, and d. at Lakeview, 16 Jan., 1896, having had,
- P2A1 Ellen Mary O'Connell, b. 25 Nov., 1855, at Lakeview. She m. 19 April, 1902, Lieutenant-General Sir Charles Tucker, G.C.B., G.C.V.O. (Col. 80th South Staffs. Regt.), b. 6 Dec., 1838, d. 22 Dec., 1935. For some years the oldest General Officer in the British Service. She d. s.p. 27 Dec., 1945. Both are buried at Ashburton, co. Devon.
- P2A2 James O'Connell, b. 31 May, 1857; d. 8 Apr., 1858.
- P2A3 Maurice O'Connell, b. 27 July, 1858; educated at the Oratory Edgbaston, he joined the Kerry Militia, and thence was commissioned into the 49th Foot, and, on 19 Feb., 1879, transferred into the 60th Rifles, and sailed, on Friday, 28 Feb., 1879, in SS. Egypt, for the Cape, where he took part in the Zulu War (medal and clasp). He was due to return home at the end of 1880, but when "the disaster of Dec., 1880" occurred he volunteered for service against the Boers; he was promoted to 1st Lieutenant in the Gazette of 2 Feb., 1881, and on 8 Feb., 1881, he and Lt. Garrett were killed at the Battle of the Ingogo River, together with 4 other officers wounded, and 160 men of the Regiment killed and wounded; the gallantry of his conduct in this action was sufficiently outstanding to obtain special mention in British Battles on Land and Sea, edited by General Sir Evelyn Wood; d. unm.
- P2A4 Daniel Ross O'Connell, 3rd Bart., b. 18 Jan., 1861; educated at the Oratory and Trinity College, Dublin (where he took the highest honours in French). A man of considerable mental brilliance, he was from youth so delicate as to be for most of his life an invalid. J.P., D.L. co. Kerry, and High Sheriff, 1891. He succeeded his father in 1896, but spent most of the rest of his life abroad. He was a fluent linguist, speaking French, Italian and German with a fluency equal to English. He d. unm. at San Remo, 14 May, 1905, and was succeeded by his brother,
- P2A5 Morgan Ross O'Connell, 4th Bart., b. at Lakeview, 20 July, 1862, and d. there 27 Apr., 1919; educated at the Oratory, Edgbaston, and the Agricultural College, Cirencester; m. 15 Apr., 1884, at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, at Terryglass, Co. Tipperary, to Mary Pauline Hickie (b. 26 Oct., 1863, d. 19 Sept., 1934), eldest child of Lt.-Col. J. F. Hickie, of Slevoyre, J.P., late 7th Regt. (Royal Fusiliers) (b. 15 Aug., 1833, m. 20 Sept., 1862, d. 5 Feb., 1913), by Lucila Calista Larios de Tajada y Teshara (b. 14 Oct., 1834, d. 6 Mar. 1880), niece of Don Martin Larios y Herreras de Tajada, 1st Marquis Larios (cr. 1865), and sister-in-law of Don Carlos Larios y Martinez de Tajada, 1st Marquis Guadiaro. A notice of the Hickie family will appear in a subsequent tract. Sir Morgan, in 1916, gave scathing evidence at the Royal Commission, which enquired into the Insurrection of 1916, of the difficulties which loyal men with considerable knowledge of a country have, when they attempt to forewarn its democratic government of the results of apathy and "ostrichism"—a fate which has befallen too many O'Connells, including The Count, the "Liberator" and Sir Morgan. He d. on 27 Apr., 1919, and lies buried in Fossa churchyard, near Lakeview. They had,
